I, Robert Marshall, of the United States, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew properly in said vessel from and port or place during per foregoing voyage. I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 21 and 30, Act of May 26, 1924, supra appear below.

Robert Marshall
Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this 13 day of March, 1953

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port or first (form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of an alien in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel in the United States bringing such alien to the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports for which they have respectively been cleared, and such other information relative to such aliens as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and failure to deliver such lists shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien employed on such vessel, and in addition thereto such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien employed thereon who is not listed on the lists delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, which penalty may be sued for and recovered by the United States district attorney of the district in which the port of arrival is located: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture provided for by this section: Provided further, That no fine, penalty, or forfeiture shall be incurred by reason of the employment on board of any alien seaman who was employed thereon at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of departure, and also the names of those who have been discharged, and the cause for which discharged, and the names of those who have been signed to fill vacancies, and such other information relative to such alien seamen as the Attorney General may prescribe: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of arrival the lists required by this section, or who refuses to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board of such vessel and to question any alien on board thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, and may be imprisoned for a period not exceeding one year. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same upon such terms and conditions as he shall deem just, or may refer the matter to the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals for review upon petition filed within thirty days after the assessment of such penalty by the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from the place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with such vessel unless such alien seaman shall have been granted by the Attorney General a permit to depart after the date of the arrival of such vessel.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived is impracticable or inconvenient because such seaman is destitute or because no vessel sailing directly to the country to which the alien seaman desires to be returned will accept him except at a charge which the master of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel has been granted clearance papers, considers unreasonable, or because the vessel sailing directly to the country to which the alien seaman desires to be returned will not

(a) Upon arrival of any vessel or aircraft in the United States from any place outside the United States if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer thereof to deliver to an immigration officer at the port of arrival (1) a complete, true, and correct list containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel or aircraft, the positions they respectively hold in the crew of the vessel or aircraft, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and those to be paid off or discharged in the port of arrival; or (2) in the discretion of the Attorney General, such a list containing so much of such information, or such additional or supplemental information, as the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe. In the case of a vessel engaged solely in traffic on the Great Lakes, Saint Lawrence River, and connecting waterways, such lists shall be furnished at such times as the Attorney General may require.

(b) If shall be the duty of any owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of any vessel or aircraft to report to an immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien crewman has illegally landed in the United States from the vessel or aircraft, together with a description of such alien and any information likely to lead to his apprehension.

(d) In case any owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer shall fail to deliver complete, true, and correct lists or reports or aliens, or to report cases of desertion or landing, as required by sub-sections (a), (b), (c), and owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer, shall, if required by the Attorney General, pay to the collector of customs of any customs district in which the vessel or aircraft may at any time be found the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such list or report is not delivered or such report was not made as required in the preceding sub-sections. No such vessel or aircraft shall be granted clearance from any port in which such list or report is required to be delivered or made until the penalty has been paid or until the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer has entered into bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Any such fine may, in the discretion of the Attorney General, be remitted or mitigated or remitted.

Section 252. If shall be unlawful for any vessel or aircraft carrying passengers between a port of the United States and a port outside thereof to have embarked on board upon arrival in the United States any alien suffered with Keeple-Mindedness, insanity, epilepsy, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease. It if appears to the satisfaction of the Attorney General, from an examination made by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, and is so certified by such officer, that any such alien was so suffered at the time he was shipped or engaged and taken on board such vessel or aircraft and that the existence of such affliction might have been detected by means of a competent medical examination at such time, the owner, commanding officer, agent, consignee, or master thereof shall pay for each alien so suffered to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $20. No vessel or aircraft shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such sums, or while such sums remain unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of an amount sufficient to cover such sums or of a bond approved by the collector of customs with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. Any such fine may, in the discretion of the Attorney General, be remitted or mitigated or remitted.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of an alien crewman under this section on the vessel or aircraft on which he arrived is impracticable or impossible, or would cause undue hardship to such alien crewman, he may cause the alien crewman to be deported from the port of arrival or any other port on another vessel or aircraft of the same transportation line, unless the Attorney General finds this to be impracticable. All expenses incurred in transporting an alien crewman from one place in the United States to another under such conditions and safeguards as the Attorney General shall impose, shall be paid by the owner or owners of the vessel or aircraft on which the alien arrived in the United States. The vessel or aircraft on which the alien arrived shall not be granted clearance until such expenses have been paid or their payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any alien in the United States from any foreign port to a place in Alaska or in the Canal Zone or in the district of Hawaii, or in the district of Puerto Rico, or in the Virgin Islands, or in the Philippine Islands, or in any insular possession of the United States, he shall be examined by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, or by such other immigrant inspector as may be detailed for the purpose by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be required to answer such questions touching his right to enter the United States as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such physical examination as the Public Health Service may prescribe: and if such alien, hereafter arriving at a port of the United States, shall be certified by the examining physician to be afflicted with a loathsome or with a dangerous contagious disease, he shall be detained until he shall have been cured or until the danger of contagion shall have passed away, unless the Secretary of Labor shall determine that his detention is unnecessary, and he shall not be permitted to enter the United States: Provided, That any such alien may be temporarily admitted to the United States by the Secretary of Labor, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, for a period or periods not exceeding in the aggregate one year, without being deemed thereby to have changed his status as an alien lawfully admitted to permanent residence: Provided further, That any such alien may be required to furnish a suitable bond as a condition of his temporary admission: And provided further, That no alien shall be admitted to the United States who is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or who has had two or more attacks of insanity at any time previously. Any alien who at any time after entering the United States is found to have been at the time of entry a member of any of the classes enumerated as excluded by this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any alien who shall be deported shall be ineligible to subsequently enter the United States, except upon the written permission of the Secretary of Labor, and he may be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came at any time within one year after entry without expense to the immigrant or to any transportation company except the cost of detention.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person who shall bring into the United States any alien seaman employed on such vessel, shall cause such alien seaman to be examined by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival (which examination shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and no such alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for the purpose of such examination, unless and until a certificate has been issued by such immigrant inspector to the effect that such alien seaman has been found not to belong to any of the classes excluded by the immigration laws, or that, if found to belong to any of such classes, he has been granted a permit to land temporarily under bond or otherwise as provided in this section. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States without having been granted such permit shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such liability upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a case where an appeal is taken as provided in this section, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just. Such application must be made within one year from the date of the assessment of such penalty. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. The provisions of this section shall not apply to any vessel employed solely in trade between the United States and the Panama Canal Zone or between the United States and any of its insular possessions.

(b) Upon the application of the master of any vessel or his agent, the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival may, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, issue a permit to any alien seaman employed on such vessel entitling him to shore leave while such vessel remains in port, without the necessity of the deposit of a bond or undertaking as provided for in subdivision (a) of this section, if such vessel is in all respects entitled to the benefits of section 10 of the Seamen's Act of March 4, 1915 (38 Stat. 1167; 46 U. S. C. 701), as amended by section 1 of the Act of June 5, 1920 (41 Stat. 988; 46 U. S. C. 713), and if such alien seaman is in all respects entitled to the benefits of said section 10 as a seaman employed on such vessel. Such permit may be granted to such alien seaman for a definite period of time, not to exceed the period during which such vessel is expected to remain in port, or may be granted to such alien seaman generally to go and come at will while such vessel remains in port. Such permit may be revoked in writing at any time by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, and shall be revoked upon the request of the master or agent of such vessel. Such permit shall not relieve the master or agent of such vessel from the duty to detain such alien seaman on board such vessel and to deliver him to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival upon the revocation of such permit or upon the departure of such vessel from such port. Such permit shall not relieve such master or agent of such vessel from the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903 (32 Stat. 848; 8 U. S. C. 132), as amended by section 1 of the Act of June 5, 1920 (41 Stat. 988; 8 U. S. C. 132), upon the entry of such alien seaman into the United States, or from the payment of the head tax imposed by section 1 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 132), as amended by section 1 of the Act of May 10, 1920 (41 Stat. 593; 8 U. S. C. 132), upon the entry of such alien seaman into the United States, unless such alien seaman is entitled to be exempted from the payment of such taxes under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 132), as amended by section 1 of the Act of May 10, 1920 (41 Stat. 593; 8 U. S. C. 132).

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such agreement to such deportation or to the payment of such expense shall not be construed to relieve such vessel from the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended, and the head tax imposed by section 1 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended, unless such alien seaman is entitled to be exempted from the payment of such taxes under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended. Such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the minimum deposits, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be interrogated such seaman (which interrogation in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), determine and record the facts concerning each alien seaman on board who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects, removal of which may be required by any law of the United States, or who is suffering from any contagious disease, or who has come to the United States in violation of the immigration laws, or who is an anarchist, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917, approved February 5, 1917, or who is a stowaway, or who has been certified under section 19 hereof, and report the same to the Attorney General and to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival. Such report shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of the vessel or such other officer of the vessel as may be designated by the master and shall be in addition to any other report required by law. Any master or commanding officer of any vessel who fails to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay to the collector of customs a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of the date of their entry into the United States.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be ordered removed by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be taken into custody on the warrant of the Attorney General and returned to the vessel or other vessel or vessels sailing to the country to which belongs, or to any country which may grant him a visa to his passport, or to the country from which he entered the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any such alien seaman who shall refuse to depart on any vessel on which he is ordered removed shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

Every master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel shall be severally liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master fails to deliver to each immigrant alien on board such vessel a certificate of the physical and mental examination of such immigrant alien, and to report the sickness and death of any such alien, or the cause thereof, as required by the Attorney General, but no penalty shall be imposed in the case of the failure of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to report the death of any such alien dying in the country from which such vessel sailed, or in which it touched previous to sailing for the United States, or to deliver a certificate of the physical and mental examination of any such alien who was not a citizen or subject of the country from which such vessel sailed, or in which it touched previous to sailing for the United States, unless such alien became such subsequent to the time of sailing from such country, or unless such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master had no reason to believe that such alien was not a citizen or subject of the country from which such vessel sailed, or in which it touched previous to sailing for the United States, and such belief was founded upon statements made in writing by such alien and delivered to such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master before such alien's departure from such country or place, or upon the certificate in writing of the consular officer of the United States at the port or place from which such alien took passage for the United States, stating that such consular officer has personally examined such alien and found him not to be within any of the classes excluded by this Act, and stating the date of such examination and certificate. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such permit to land in the case of any alien seaman, and such alien seaman shall thereupon be deported in the manner provided in the immigration laws in force at the time of such withdrawal. Any such vessel may be required, at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, to deposit with the collector of customs a bond with sufficient surety in such amount as the Secretary of Labor shall deem sufficient to insure compliance with the provisions of this section and rules and regulations issued thereunder.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

Such seaman shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens who have been admitted to the United States. Such deportation shall be to the country to which such seaman belongs, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the United States, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel, and shall be at the expense of such vessel. Any master, commander, or agent of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver the lists required by this section, or who knowingly or willfully reports or causes to be reported falsely or incorrectly any information required by this section, or who refuses to land any alien duly certified to by the immigrant inspectors, or who lands or permits to land any alien other than at the designated port of entry, or who refuses to allow the immigrant inspectors to board the vessel for the purpose of performing their duties in connection with the inspection of the vessel and the aliens on board, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by the immigrant inspectors, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspectors any such alien ordered to be delivered to them, or who refuses or neglects to detain such alien on board the vessel after the departure of the vessel from the port, or who refuses or neglects to report and deliver to the immigrant inspectors before the departure of the vessel from the port any such alien who may be on board the vessel or who may have escaped or landed therefrom, or who refuses or neglects to perform any other duty required of him by the provisions of this Act, or who obstructs or hinders or delays the immigrant inspectors in the performance of their duties in the examination and inspection of the vessel and of the aliens on board thereof, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board who has been certified to him as required by the immigrant inspectors, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The vessel may also be proceeded against in any district court of the United States into which it may enter or in which it may be found by libel of information, and shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding $300 for each alien on board thereof, the payment of which may be enforced when the vessel is within the jurisdiction of the court by process and proceedings against the vessel, her tackle, furniture, apparel, and cargo, or any part thereof, which proceedings shall have precedence over all other cases except those arising under the quarantine laws. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof, and may direct the remission thereof when in his opinion the same was incurred without intention on the part of the master, commander, or agent of the vessel to violate the provisions of this Act, and may also direct the remission of any part of such penalty paid into the Treasury of the United States when it appears that the person paying the same is not legally liable therefor. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which may accrue under the provisions thereof on which no suit or proceeding shall have been instituted at the time of the passage of this Act. (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 142.)

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing into the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, or from any place in the Panama Canal Zone or the Canal Zone, any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, or other travel document in lieu of passport, if required by the Secretary of State pursuant to section 1 of the Act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559), as amended, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired reentry permit or other travel document if required by regulations issued by the Attorney General pursuant to section 10 of the Act of September 16, 1940 (54 Stat. 673), as amended, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or to whom report is not made as above provided; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability of or the payment to such collector of such sum, or while the master, commander, or agent thereof shall be subject to prosecution under this section: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, in such form as the Attorney General may prescribe, conditioned upon the payment of such sum as may be finally determined to be due hereunder. (39 Stat. 880–882; 8 U. S. C. 141 (a), (b), (c).)

(b) Every alien arriving at a port or place in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be examined by an immigrant inspector, and such alien shall not be permitted to enter the United States except as provided in this Act or regulations made thereunder. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 136 (g).)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien named on the vessel on which he arrives below subjects the alien to detention for hearing other than at the expense of the vessel on which he arrives, such vessel may be required to provide for the maintenance of such alien during such detention at such rate per day as the Attorney General may prescribe, but not to exceed $3 per day for each alien, pending the completion of the hearing and the alien's departure from the United States. Failure to provide for such maintenance or departure shall be a ground for withholding clearance of the vessel or refusing her a permit to depart from the United States, but nothing in this subsection shall be construed as affecting the validity of any lien which the United States may have on the vessel. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 136 (d).)

(d) Every alien in transit through the United States in immediate and continuous passage from a foreign country to another foreign country, and every alien entering the United States solely for the purpose of such transit, shall be subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 136 (e).)

(e) Every alien entering the United States from any foreign country, whether by land or water, shall be subject to such regulations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General governing the admission of aliens to the United States. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 136 (f).)

(f) Every alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act shall be deported in the manner provided by law. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155.)

(g) Any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

(h) Any alien who shall enter the United States at any time or place other than as designated by immigration officers, or who shall enter the United States by willfully concealing himself or herself, or who shall enter the United States by willfully evading inspection by immigration officers, or who shall enter the United States by knowingly assisting, abetting, or aiding another to enter the United States in violation of this Act, shall be deported as provided in this Act. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

(i) Any alien who shall enter the United States after having been excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and who shall enter the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

(j) Any alien who shall enter the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall attempt to enter the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing into the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, or other travel document if required by the Secretary of State pursuant to section 1 of the Act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559), as amended, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired reentry permit or other travel document if required by regulations issued by the Attorney General pursuant to section 10 of the Act of September 16, 1940 (54 Stat. 673), as amended, shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment thereof, or while the master, commander, or agent thereof shall be subject to prosecution under this section: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty. (39 Stat. 880–882; 8 U. S. C. 141 (a), (b).)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof having on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and no such alien seaman shall be granted a permit to land temporarily pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, or to remain in the United States for a longer period than the period for which he is granted a permit to land temporarily, or to land at any port other than the port at which he has been inspected by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, unless specifically permitted to do so by the Attorney General. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry list or lists correctly containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the foreign port from which they severally embarked, and the names of those destined to the United States, and the intended place of residence in the United States of each alien, and such other information as may be required by the Attorney General in order to carry out the provisions of this Act. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before the departure of the vessel from the foreign port as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall be in such form as he may prescribe: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, require the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel arriving from any foreign port to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list containing the name of each alien who may be on board such vessel, stating the sex, age, nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and destination of each such alien, together with such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Attorney General: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States who is not in possession of the proper documents or visas required by this Act or by the regulations issued hereunder, or who is afflicted with any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 3 of this Act, or who has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude, or who is an anarchist, or who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who advocates the assassination of public officials, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, advocating, or teaching any of the doctrines above specified, shall be detained at the port of arrival pending a determination as to the right of such alien to land, which determination shall be made within four weeks after the date of his arrival at such port, unless the Attorney General shall, in his discretion, extend the time for such determination for a period not exceeding two weeks in any case: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the application of any provision of this Act to an alien in transit through the United States if he shall be satisfied that such alien has been or will be duly admitted by a foreign government to some country adjacent to the United States, and that such alien is in possession of a valid unexpired passport issued by the country to which he is destined, if such country grants a reciprocal privilege to citizens of the United States: And provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the application of any provision of this Act to an alien crewman if the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall certify to the Attorney General that such alien crewman has been employed on a vessel which has been allowed to discharge in the United States all or part of its crew without prejudice, or Any seaman who refuses to land when ordered by the master, or who, after having landed, fails to report on board before the vessel leaves port, shall be reported by the master to the immigration officer at the port of departure, and unless he shall show cause for his refusal or failure to land or report on board before the departure of the vessel from the port, he shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and may be refused admission to the United States on any vessel during a period of one year thereafter. Any seaman who fails to report on board before the departure of the vessel from any port in the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all seamen arriving unexpectedly on June 2, 1924.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to receive medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel duly from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or who fails to deport any alien seaman (other than a member of the crew) who has been ordered deported from the United States, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman, in respect of whom such failure occurs. Such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportation cases pending on June 2, 1924.

(b) If any alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or shall not have been reported by the master of such vessel as a passenger, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seamen pursuant to the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be refunded clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived above should be suspended, he may grant such alien a temporary landing permit to such alien, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for such time and such purpose as the Attorney General may deem necessary.

(d) Every alien on such vessel not duly admitted by the immigration officer or the Attorney General shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 889, 8 U. S. C. 155, 156).

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Bermuda, the Bahama Islands, Cuba, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands of the United States any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and valid certificate of admission to the United States, or other document required by this Act, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or pending the payment of such penalty after it has been determined, or pending the furnishing of a bond as hereinafter provided. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty, or upon the furnishing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate or remit such penalty, in whole or in part, under such conditions and limitations as he may prescribe. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof in the case of each alien as to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof in the case of each alien as to whom such failure occurs, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each alien as to whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such deposit shall remain in the custody of the collector of customs pending the determination by the Attorney General of the question of the liability of the master to the payment of the fine, and upon the payment of such fine shall be returned. Upon the failure to pay the fine, the deposit shall be forfeited to the United States.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States from any place outside the United States, whether in possession of a valid immigration visa or not, unless he is in possession of a valid unexpired passport or other travel document, or such other document as may be prescribed by the President under such terms and conditions as he may prescribe, shall be detained upon the vessel or at the port of arrival and shall be examined by an immigrant inspector. Such examination shall be conducted separately and independently of the examination of any other alien detained on account of the provisions of this subsection, and the conclusions reached in each case shall be separately stated. Any alien who shall not establish to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector that he is entitled under this Act and all other laws to enter the United States shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival pending a determination of his case upon the special inquiry conducted by a board of special inquiry. Such board shall be appointed by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, and shall consist of not less than three members, at least one of whom shall be a citizen physician. The decision of such board shall be by a majority vote, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Attorney General. Pending the final decision of such board, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officials or in the custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on board the vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officials. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintenance of such alien while detained. Any alien who shall be finally excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and who shall have been detained on board a vessel shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from this place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel (other than the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival) who fails to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, at the time of the arrival of such vessel, a complete list of all such alien seamen employed on such vessel, (which list shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization), or who fails to detain on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman, (which inspection shall include a thorough physical examination by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service), or who fails to detain on board such vessel any alien seaman who has been certified by such medical officers for special inquiry examination, unless such seaman is specifically exempted from detention by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or who fails to report the illness or death of any such seaman, or who fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the certificate required to be delivered to him in respect of each such seaman, or who fails to make such other report, or who fails to furnish such other information in connection with any such seaman as may be required of him by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization or by any immigration officer, or who fails to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien while detained. Any alien who shall not establish to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector that he is entitled under this Act and all other laws to enter the United States shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival pending a determination of his case upon the special inquiry conducted by a board of special inquiry. Such board shall be appointed by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, and shall consist of not less than three members, at least one of whom shall be a citizen physician. The decision of such board shall be by a majority vote, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Attorney General. Pending the final decision of such board, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officials or in the custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on board the vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officials. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintenance of such alien while detained. Any alien who shall be finally excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from this place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 33. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if any of the crew, agent, consignee, or master thereof, employed on such vessel, at the port or time of departure of such vessel from such foreign port or place, or at any time or place prior thereto, deserts or attempts to desert while in the territorial waters of the United States, or if any such person, after the vessel has left the territorial waters of the United States, deserts or attempts to desert in any place in the United States, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such person deserting or attempting to desert, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or pending the payment of such penalty after it has been determined, or pending the furnishing of a bond as hereinafter provided, or while any such person remains in the United States in violation of law. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof in the case of each alien as to whom such failure occurs, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each alien as to whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such deposit shall remain in the custody of the collector of customs pending the determination by the Attorney General of the question of the liability of the master to the payment of the fine, and upon the payment of such fine shall be returned. Upon the failure to pay the fine, the deposit shall be forfeited to the United States.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States from any place outside thereof, whether in possession of a valid immigration visa or not, unless he is in possession of a valid unexpired passport or other travel document, or such other document as may be prescribed by the President under such terms and conditions as he may prescribe, shall be detained upon the vessel or at the port of arrival and shall be examined by an immigrant inspector. Such examination shall be conducted separately and independently of the examination of any other alien detained on account of the provisions of this subsection, and the conclusions reached in each case shall be separately stated. Any alien who shall not establish to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector that he is entitled under this Act and all other laws to enter the United States shall be detained on board or at the port of arrival pending a determination of his case upon the special inquiry conducted by a board of special inquiry. Such board shall be appointed by the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, and shall consist of not less than three members, at least one of whom shall be a citizen physician. The decision of such board shall be by a majority vote, and shall be final unless reversed on appeal to the Attorney General. Pending the final decision of such board, the alien shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officials or in the custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on board the vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officials. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintenance of such alien while detained. Any alien who shall be finally excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from this place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 34. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if any of the crew, agent, consignee, or master thereof, employed on such vessel, at the port or time of departure of such vessel from such foreign port or place, or at any time or place prior thereto, deserts or attempts to desert while in the territorial waters of the United States, or if any such person, after the vessel has left the territorial waters of the United States, deserts or attempts to desert in any place in the United States, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such person deserting or attempting to desert, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or pending the payment of such penalty after it has been determined, or pending the furnishing of a bond as hereinafter provided, or while any such person remains in the United States in violation of law. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof in the case of each alien as to whom such failure occurs, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each alien as to whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such deposit shall remain in the custody of the collector of customs pending the determination by the Attorney General of the question of the liability of the master to the payment of the fine, and upon the payment of such fine shall be returned. Upon the failure to pay the fine, the deposit shall be forfeited to the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived above should be suspended, he may grant such alien a temporary landing permit to such alien, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, for such time and such purpose as the Attorney General may deem necessary.

SEC. 38. [That upon written] of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival [lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the ports at which they were to be discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing or much of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who shall thereafter be employed thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to be discharged, so far as known, if any, who were deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver lists of the kinds required, or to make report of the names of all such employees who were not included in lists previously delivered, or to report the name of any alien employee who has illegally landed from the vessel, it shall be unlawful for the Attorney General, by or to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, to refuse to grant clearance papers to the vessel, or such other relief as may be necessary, until such lists have been delivered, or such report made, or such alien has been returned to the country to which he belongs, or has been adjudged not to be subject to deportation, or has been allowed to enter the United States, or has been given a hearing by the Attorney General, or has been taken into custody by the United States Immigration Officer for deportation, or has been granted a stay of deportation by the Attorney General, or has been released under bond as provided by law, and in the event any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, or cannot be found, the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a like penalty in the case of each alien illegally landed from the vessel, which penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance papers shall not be granted any vessel while any of the penalties imposed by this section remain unpaid, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any question relating to such penalties upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalties and costs that may accrue in the suit brought to recover the same, or upon the execution of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all boundless streets entered subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart or deport after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering it necessary for the safety of the vessel that such alien seaman be employed on board such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for such medical treatment, or unless specifically certified by the Attorney General to be a person who (which) subsequent to his entry into the United States from any place outside thereof has been employed on board a vessel during the entire period such vessel was in the service of the United States Government in connection with the prosecution of the war with Germany, Italy, and Japan, and who has served on board such vessel for a period of not less than one year immediately prior to the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States, and who is found by the Attorney General to be a person of good moral character, who is not ineligible to citizenship, and who is not subject to any of the grounds for exclusion set forth in section 212 (a) (9), (10), (15), (19), (20), (23), (25), (26), (27), (28), (29), or (33) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, and who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, reentry permit, or other travel document required by such Act, and is otherwise admissible under such Act, except that in determining the admissibility of such alien the Attorney General shall not be limited to the consideration of documents, diseases, or grounds for exclusion specifically applicable to seamen, and except that no such alien seaman shall be admitted into the United States at any time if the vessel on which he arrived is scheduled to depart from the United States within twenty-four hours of its arrival, unless the Attorney General has received from the master of such vessel the name and address of such alien seaman and has granted him permission to land temporarily. Any alien seaman who (which) shall land temporarily in the United States under the provisions of this section shall be deemed to have been granted such permission to land only if he (she) has been issued a landing permit by the Attorney General or his delegate. Such landing permit shall be issued to such alien seaman only upon the payment by him (her) of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his (her) passage to the port at which he (she) shall next embark for a foreign country, and only upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, in such amount and subject to such conditions as the Attorney General shall prescribe, to guarantee the departure of such alien seaman from the United States at the port at which he (she) shall next embark for a foreign country. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall refuse to subscribe and swear to the statements therein required, shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each such refusal or neglect. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall bring to the United States any alien employed on board such vessel who is afflicted with any loathsome disease, or who is a person who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is a polygamist, or who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who is an anarchist, or who is coming to perform labor contrary to the provisions of section 3 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That clearance may be granted to any vessel prior to the delivery of the list required by this section upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act for each alien employed on board such vessel who intends to land in the United States, and who is not listed on the list delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, such sum to be refunded only upon the delivery of such list, or evidence satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor that such alien has departed from the United States or is entitled to admission without the payment of the head tax: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel may appeal from the decision of the immigration officer to the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: Provided further, That upon the certification by the Public Health Service that the sanitary conditions on board such vessel are such that the allowing of sick aliens to land will not endanger the public health, sick aliens may be landed subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: Provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to seamen employed in good faith as such on vessels regularly engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and foreign contiguous territory: Provided further, That the provisions of this section requiring the payment of a head tax shall not apply to aliens in transit through the United States to foreign contiguous territory, but the Commissioner General of Immigration may require such aliens to be kept under observation while in the United States and to be supplied with sufficient food and accommodations to prevent their becoming a public charge: Provided further, That the provisions of this section requiring the payment of a head tax shall not apply to aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who are returning from a temporary visit abroad.

SEC. 3F. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they intend to land in the United States or not, and such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe, and unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have delivered lists containing the names of all aliens employed thereon as aforesaid, and shall have obtained the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that the lists have been delivered, no clearance shall be granted to such vessel by the collector of customs or other officer authorized by law to grant clearance papers, and the master of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien employed on board such vessel whose name is not included in such lists, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not shipped or engaged at the port of arrival or a previous port at which such vessel has called, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not destined to the port of arrival at which such vessel has arrived, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not duly reported and listed by the master at each port of call in the United States, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not reported and listed by the master at the time of departure from the United States, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not destined to the port at which such vessel has arrived, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not duly reported and listed by the master at such port of arrival, or who has been employed thereon as aforesaid but not duly reported and listed by the master at the time of departure from the United States for the port at which such vessel has arrived: Provided, That clearance may be granted to any vessel prior to the delivery of the lists required by this section upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act for each alien employed on board such vessel who intends to land in the United States, and who is not listed on the lists delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, such sum to be refunded only upon the delivery of such lists, or evidence satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor that such alien has departed from the United States or is entitled to admission without the payment of the head tax: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel may appeal from the decision of the immigration officer to the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: Provided further, That upon the certification by the Public Health Service that the sanitary conditions on board such vessel are such that the allowing of sick aliens to land will not endanger the public health, sick aliens may be landed subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: Provided further, That the provisions of this section shall not apply to seamen employed in good faith as such on vessels regularly engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and foreign contiguous territory: Provided further, That the provisions of this section requiring the payment of a head tax shall not apply to aliens in transit through the United States to foreign contiguous territory, but the Commissioner General of Immigration may require such aliens to be kept under observation while in the United States and to be supplied with sufficient food and accommodations to prevent their becoming a public charge: Provided further, That the provisions of this section requiring the payment of a head tax shall not apply to aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and who are returning from a temporary visit abroad.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except one trip to Canada or Mexico touching at no port other than a port of departure in Canada or Mexico) shall cause each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board until after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs: No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment thereof or while any fine is remaining unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, when such failure is due to sickness or other cause which in the discretion of the Attorney General shall think proper.

This section as amended shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or shall be found unlawfully in the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the vessel in the collection of the head tax or the payment thereof to the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal, or transit to such place outside foreign, shall be permitted to land in the United States except upon temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such illness or injury as may necessitate his removal for such medical treatment, or because of the shipwreck of the vessel upon which he arrived, or for other cause beyond the control of such alien seaman, or because the Attorney General finds that such alien seaman is required as a witness in connection with the prosecution of persons charged with violating the immigration laws, but any alien seaman who shall land in the United States under this section shall at the time of the departure of the vessel from a port of the United States be deported in the same manner as provided in section 19 of this Act, and pending such deportation shall be subject to the provisions of section 20 of this Act. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act, and shall be ineligible to citizenship.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel shall immediately report the illness or hospitalization of such alien seaman to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival and file a statement in writing concerning the case, together with such information as may be required by the Attorney General. Failure to comply with any of the requirements of this subsection shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside foreign, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with reasonable diligence.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel in the employ of the same owner or charterer, but no expense shall be incurred by the Attorney General in connection with such deportation in excess of the expense of deportation on the vessel on which he arrived, and no part of such expense shall be charged against the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(42 Stat. 164–165, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 201 (a), (b).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any person in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the service company, when and where they were respectively naturalized or admitted to citizenship, and whether they can read and write the English or their own language; the names, nationality, and last residence of all such aliens as can be ascertained from the vessel's articles or other documents carried; the final destination of each alien so employed; and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Attorney General. Such lists shall be prepared and delivered at such time before the departure of such vessel from the port as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and no such vessel shall depart until the requirements of this section have been complied with. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or who delivers incomplete lists, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to enter and search such vessel, or who refuses to detain any alien employed on such vessel when ordered by such immigration officer, or who refuses to allow any such alien to be taken on board such vessel by such immigration officer, or who refuses to pay the cost of such alien's detention on board such vessel after the same has been ordered by such immigration officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien employed or concerning whom such incomplete, false, or inadequate information is furnished, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel any such alien employed thereon at the time of the arrival, but who was employed thereon at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place, or who lands or permits to be landed any such alien from such vessel at any port in the United States without the permission of the Attorney General, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien so employed, or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such alien on board such vessel before her departure from the port of arrival, or who refuses or fails to detain such alien on board such vessel when ordered so to do by the immigration officer in charge of the port, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each such alien so refused delivery or detention, and such vessel shall also be liable for the payment thereof and may be seized and proceeded against through the appropriate admiralty proceedings for the recovery of the said sum. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or cancel the same upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof in such amount as may be fixed by the Attorney General, not to exceed the sum of $300 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal as to any alien, the Attorney General in his discretion shall refer the matter to the Secretary of Commerce, who may, in his discretion, withhold clearance or impose conditions upon the clearance of the vessel concerned, or may, in his discretion, require the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to file a bond sufficient in his judgment to secure the payment of such fine. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the Secretary of Commerce in any case upon the deposit of the amount of the fine imposed or the filing of a bond for its payment. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the Secretary of Commerce in any case where application has been made to the Attorney General as provided in this section, as amended, until such application has been finally determined. (8 U. S. C. 136.)

(a) Fines and penalties under this section shall not apply to masters of vessels who have no reason to believe that aliens employed on board such vessels intend to enter the United States unlawfully.

(b) Fines and penalties under this section shall not apply to masters of vessels who have no reason to believe that aliens employed on board such vessels intend to enter the United States unlawfully.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which the arrival was had, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (8 Stat. 161–163; 38 Stat. 1164; U. S. C. Tit. (a), Tit. (c).)

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port at which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or commander of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ports at which they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be brought in the port of arrival; lists containing an index of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, the cause in which any such alien employed at any port or place in the United States has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and also to furnish like information as to the names of all aliens employed at any such port or place who have not been entered on the lists of such vessel, and who have illegally departed therefrom; and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind by the vessel, and the cause of their detention. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to furnish the information required of him by this section, or who shall furnish information which is false in any material particular, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to report, or to furnish information in relation to, the illegal landing of any alien, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by the Attorney General, or his subordinate, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers in such case until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer thereof shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all seamen arriving at ports independent of June 2, 1924.

(d) Every alien seaman who did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver after temporary shore leave by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that any person has violated any provision of this section, such person shall not be admitted to the United States during a period of one year thereafter: Provided, however, That in the discretion of the Attorney General, any seaman who has been ordered deported under the provisions of this section may be granted shore leave temporarily at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, upon the master of such vessel furnishing a bond or undertaking approved by the Attorney General, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required, conditioned upon the return of such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or such other vessel as may be designated by the Attorney General within such period of time as he may direct, and upon the payment of such expenses and penalties as may be imposed upon such seaman by the Attorney General. Nothing in this section shall be construed as repealing, altering, or affecting the provisions of section 19 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155), but such provisions shall hereafter be administered in accordance with the provisions of this section. (43 Stat. 161–163, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon written order of the master of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, which lists shall be sworn to by the master and verified by the certificate of the surgeon of the vessel, in such form as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, it shall be the duty of such master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all changes in the list of persons employed on such vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and such officer is hereby authorized to go on board such vessel if deemed necessary for the purpose of examining the crew of such vessel or any member thereof, and also the master of such vessel, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer such information as may be required by him touching the crew, passengers, and cargo, and the production of the certificate required by section 12 of this Act; and if any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section, or shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer any such list, or shall refuse to answer any question put to him by such officer touching the crew, passengers, and cargo, or any member thereof, or shall refuse to permit such officer to go on board such vessel for the purpose of examining the crew thereof, or any member thereof, or shall refuse to detain any alien crewman when ordered by such officer, or shall refuse to deliver to such immigration officer any such alien crewman, or shall refuse to pay the head tax imposed by this Act, or shall refuse to detain any such alien crewman on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such crewman, or shall refuse to detain any such alien crewman who has been certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as requiring treatment for a communicable disease specified in section 34 of this Act, or shall refuse to remove any such alien crewman certified by such medical officer to be afflicted with such disease, except on such conditions as may be prescribed by the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located a penalty of $300 for each alien crewman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Clearance may be refused such vessel pending the payment of such penalty and the production of such certificate. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $50 for each alien crewman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such failure or refusal to deliver such list, or to answer such question, or to permit such examination, or to detain such alien crewman, or to pay such penalty, the vessel may, in the discretion of the Attorney General, be refused clearance until such penalty is paid or sufficient security given therefor, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains pending, the vessel shall not be granted clearance nor the master be given a certificate required by section 34 of this Act (8 U. S. C. 170) until such fine or security has been approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $50 for each alien crewman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such failure or refusal to deliver such list, or to answer such question, or to permit such examination, or to detain such alien crewman, or to pay such penalty, the vessel may, in the discretion of the Attorney General, be refused clearance until such penalty is paid or sufficient security given therefor, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains pending, the vessel shall not be granted clearance nor the master be given a certificate required by section 34 of this Act (8 U. S. C. 170) until such fine or security has been approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $50 for each alien crewman in respect of whom such failure occurs. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien crewman who shall not depart from the United States from any place outside the United States whether in possession of a valid crewman's landing permit or otherwise, or who shall remain in the United States for a period longer than permitted him by the Attorney General, shall be deemed to be a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a finding of desertion of such alien crewman, and shall be reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter. Every such alien crewman who shall depart from the United States shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 22 Stat. 816; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

The list of changes of alien members (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien crewman is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 203.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall employ on board any vessel such alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), arriving and inspected and examined (which examination by the medical examiners), or who shall employ on board any vessel such alien seaman not found upon such inspection or to adopt such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the master of such vessel to deliver on board vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel shall the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, or who shall refuse to detain such seaman on board until such inspection or to adopt such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers until such payment is approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than the duplicate of payment of such fine, or write off the fine remaining unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

The said lists shall be prepared at such time previous to the departure of the vessel from the foreign port as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and shall be signed by the master or commanding officer and the surgeon of the vessel, if there be one, each of whom shall certify his manifest to be true and correct, and shall be sworn to before the consular officer of the United States at the port of departure, or, if there be no consular officer at such port, then before the consular officer at the nearest port to the place of departure of the vessel which is accessible to the master and surgeon. The consular officer before whom the manifest is sworn to shall certify on the manifest the exact time spent by the master and surgeon in making oath to the same. The master and surgeon of every such vessel shall deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a true copy of the list or lists of all the persons on board the vessel, corrected to the time of sailing from the last foreign port touched at, which list or lists shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer thereof. Such officer may go on board the vessel at quarantine or elsewhere for the purpose of exercising the authority conferred upon him by this section, and may order any such changes in the list as may be necessary to make it correct according to the requirements of this section. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list or lists, or who fails to exercise due diligence in the preparation thereof, or who refuses to subscribe and deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the manifest required by this section, or who refuses to answer any question put to him by the immigration officer in charge at the port relative to the persons on board his vessel, or who refuses to detain any such person on board his vessel for examination or to deliver him to the proper officer of the law when required to do so, or who refuses to carry back any such person or persons to the port from which his vessel came, or who refuses to pay the cost of such detention and return, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such person in respect of whom any such failure occurs. In case of the inability or refusal of the master or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver a complete list of all the persons on board thereof at the time of sailing from the last foreign port touched at, he shall, in addition to the penalty above prescribed, be liable to a penalty of $300 for each person concerning whom such complete list is not delivered. Upon the refusal of the master or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver the list required, or upon the refusal of any person to submit to examination, the vessel shall be detained at the port of arrival under the charge of the immigration officer in charge at the port until the master or commanding officer shall have complied fully with the requirements of this section and all the requirements of the immigration laws and regulations in relation to the admission or detention of aliens, and such compliance shall be reported to the Secretary of Labor and a permit issued by him to the master or commanding officer before the vessel shall be allowed to depart from the port. Upon the refusal of any master or commanding officer to deliver the list required, or any part thereof, or upon the refusal of any person to submit to examination, or upon the refusal of any master or commanding officer to detain any person on board his vessel for examination or to deliver him to the proper officer of the law when required to do so, or upon the refusal of any master or commanding officer to carry back any person or persons to the port from which his vessel came, or upon the refusal of any master or commanding officer to pay the cost of such detention and return, such master or commanding officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal, and may also be imprisoned for a term not exceeding one year. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require the detention on board vessels at quarantine of aliens who have been duly inspected by the immigration officers at the last port of departure prior to sailing and found to be clear of contagious disease, and who have been certified by such officers to be free from mental or physical defect, except in cases where such officers have reasons to believe that such aliens belong to one of the classes excluded by law, or in cases where the contagious disease is developed after inspection and certification. Any person who knowingly brings into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and remains in the United States in violation of law, or who knowingly brings into the United States any alien who has been deported and who remains in the United States in violation of law, or who knowingly harbors any such alien in pursuance of any conspiracy to conceal such alien from the proper officers of the law after knowledge or notice that such alien is illegally in the United States or has been ordered deported, shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any alien who shall willfully make any false or misleading representation or willfully conceal any material fact or information in connection with the preparation, signing, or filing of the lists provided for in this section, or who shall refuse to furnish such information or to answer any question relating to the right of himself or any other alien to enter the United States which may be propounded by the Secretary of Labor or by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and shall be deported in the manner provided by law. Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien afflicted with any loathsome disease, or with any mental disease or defect which may render such alien a public charge, unless before the departure of such alien from the port from which he is brought he shall obtain from the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien is brought a bond to the United States in such sum, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned for the support of such alien for a period of three years from the date of his entry, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien afflicted with any loathsome disease, or with any mental disease or defect which may render such alien a public charge, and who shall fail to obtain a bond as herein provided

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry list or manifest of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who have ceased to be such employees, when and where they were discharged or absent from the vessel, and the cause thereof, to the best of his knowledge and belief, and shall furnish such other information in regard to such employees as may be required by the Attorney General. Such list shall be prepared in such manner and contain such particulars as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and shall be subscribed and sworn to by the master or commanding officer of such vessel before the immigration officer at the port of entry. The Attorney General may require the information required by this section to be given upon honorable discharge of seamen, or upon the arrival of vessels at intermediate ports, or upon the departure of vessels from intermediate ports to final ports of destination, and may withhold clearance from any vessel until the list required by this section has been delivered as herein provided. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list, or who refuses or fails to furnish any information required by the Attorney General under authority of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver to any immigrant visa issued to him under the provisions of this Act, or to the master of the vessel in which such immigrant is to sail or has sailed to the United States, a certificate of identity and nationality as required by section 6 of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Canal Zone, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners). The Attorney General is to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to maintain of such alien, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of time of entry.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the discharge articles of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory, or shall be ordered by the master of such vessel to a detention facility in the United States for hearing before a special inquiry officer, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after temporary detention by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the port), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port at which the vessel is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of any question upon the demand of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all seamen since admitted to the United States.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport such seaman as required.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the payment finally determined by the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization to such extent as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands who shall fail to deport any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner) or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if ordered by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all barkentine vessels engaged in trade after June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alien members of crew (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, purser, or person in charge of the port of entry other than citizens of the United States, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry a complete list of all aliens, including the names of all members of the crew without exception, and the full name and middle initial, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien who has been issued a certificate of identification, and the number, place, and date of issue thereof, and the port, vessel, and date of last arrival in the United States of each alien employed on such vessel, and the length of time he has been employed on board, and the reason for leaving the vessel, and the intended future movements of each alien seaman employed on board, and such other information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall produce the certificate of identification issued to each alien seaman employed on board. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at each port of arrival in the United States at which the vessel shall call, and one copy shall be delivered to the collector of customs at the first port of clearance. Any master, purser, or person in charge of any vessel who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct list was not delivered to a true report is not shown as above provided: Provided, That clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 878–879; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been delivered, and when alien members of crew are detained by the immigrant inspector, the master will be notified in writing of the reasons therefor. Clearance may be granted without the delivery of lists of alien members of crew detained by the immigrant inspector when the master shall have given a bond in such amount, not less than $300 nor more than $1,000 for each alien detained, as the immigrant inspector in charge may require, conditioned upon the delivery of such alien or aliens to the immigrant inspector at the time and place designated, and upon the payment of the cost of maintenance and subsistence while detained, and the expenses incident to the return of such alien or aliens to the country to which they belong or to the country from which they came to the United States, at the option of the Government, or upon the payment of the penalty prescribed by law in lieu of the delivery of such alien or aliens. Bonds given to secure the payment of penalties incurred by the masters of vessels for the illegal landing of aliens in violation of the immigration laws shall not be accepted in lieu of bonds required by this section. (8 CFR, 1949 Supp.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, or any adjacent island, may be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such alien seaman, or for the necessities of the vessel, or for such reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside foreign territory other than alien seamen employed on board such vessel and holding landing permits as provided in section 3 hereof, shall be liable to a tax of $8 for each such alien, to be paid to the collector of customs at the port of arrival, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty to not less than $300 nor more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such false return as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all bonafide aliens unexpectedly to land 2, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside contiguous territory, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart with the vessel, unless the immigration officer at the port of arrival is satisfied that such alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived bilged or was otherwise unable to depart with the vessel, and that such alien seaman has been or will be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be remitted by the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived bilged could cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be permitted to remain temporarily in the United States under bond in such amount and with such security as the Attorney General may require, conditioned for the departure of such alien seaman when required by the Attorney General. Such bond shall not be deemed satisfied unless and until it has been specifically found by the Attorney General that the obligor has complied with the conditions thereof. Suit for the breach of any bond given hereunder may be brought in the name of the United States by the Attorney General in the district in which the obligor resides or may be found. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew, or additions to the crew, shall not be delivered by the master to the Principal Immigration Officer at the port, but shall be retained on board, and shall be produced by the master to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Any alien seaman in violation of 8 U. S. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the time required for the performance of the journey and the normal period of his employment, or by reason of substantial change in the character or volume of employment of such seaman since the time of his arrival, the Attorney General may cancel the deportation of such seaman and permit him to depart from the United States within such time and on such vessel or aircraft as he may direct: Provided, That the cost of maintenance of such seaman while in the United States shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such seaman arrived in the United States, and the cost of maintenance while in detention awaiting deportation shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such seaman is ordered deported, or by the last master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such seaman arrived in the United States, as the Attorney General may direct.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the continental territory of the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall not be duly reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after the termination of the immigration officer at the Attorney General.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of the date of their entry into the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall not be duly reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after the termination of the immigration officer at the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the time required for the performance of the journey and the normal period of his employment, or by reason of substantial change in the character or volume of employment of such seaman since the time of his arrival, the Attorney General may cancel the deportation of such seaman and permit him to depart from the United States within such time and on such vessel or aircraft as he may direct: Provided, That the cost of maintenance of such seaman while in the United States shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such seaman arrived in the United States, and the cost of maintenance while in detention awaiting deportation shall be borne by the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such seaman is ordered deported, or by the last master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel or aircraft on which such seaman arrived in the United States, as the Attorney General may direct.

Any such alien shall, at the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, be deported in the manner provided by law for the deportation of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law. The cost of maintenance of any such alien while detained by the immigration officers at the port of arrival, and the cost of his deportation, shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived. Any such alien shall be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officers until the decision of the Secretary of Labor in regard to his case: Provided, That in the case of the failure of the master of any vessel to deliver to the immigration officers at the port of arrival the lists required by this section, the vessel may be granted clearance and depart from port before the decision of the Secretary of Labor in regard to the cases of aliens detained on board, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to pay the head tax and expenses of maintenance of such aliens pending the decision in their cases, which sum may be used for that purpose if the decision is adverse, or refunded to the master if the decision is favorable to the alien or if the vessel shall sail without the alien before the decision is rendered. Clearance shall not be refused any vessel by reason of the failure of the master thereof to deliver lists containing the names of alien seamen employed on board such vessel unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have given notice to the master of such vessel before the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place at which it shall be the duty of such master to deliver such lists of the names of such alien seamen. (39 Stat. 874, 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the adjacent islands of such alien seamen for hospital treatment or burial, or for any other purpose approved by the Secretary of Labor, and such alien seamen may be allowed to land temporarily without being subject to the payment of the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act, and without being required to furnish the bond provided for in section 3 of this Act, but such temporary landing shall not be deemed to be a waiver of any of the provisions of this Act, and such alien seamen shall be deported in the same manner as other aliens found unlawfully in the United States. Such vessel shall not be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the admissibility of such alien seamen, or pending the deportation of such alien seamen, if deported.

(b) Any such alien seaman who shall be found upon the vessel on which he arrived in the United States after the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place at which it touched, shall be deported in the same manner as other aliens found unlawfully in the United States. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 146.)

SEC. 38. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the adjacent islands, or any person who shall bring into the United States from any such place or adjacent islands any alien seaman (which term shall include a person employed in any capacity on board a vessel other than a pilot regularly employed by the owners of such vessel while such vessel is entering or leaving a port of the United States), who is afflicted with any loathsome disease, or with any mental defect likely to become a public charge, or with tuberculosis in any form, or who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Any such alien seaman who shall be found upon the vessel on which he arrived in the United States after the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place at which it touched, shall be deported in the same manner as other aliens found unlawfully in the United States. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 146.)

SEC. 39. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or by reason of the vessel in which he arrived being required to remain in port, but shall be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival pending the departure of such vessel from the United States, or pending the adjustment of such other matters as may require his detention, or pending his deportation if such be ordered. Such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such alien seaman has been deported in the same manner as other aliens found unlawfully in the United States. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 146.)

SEC. 40. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be fined $200 for each and every alien who may be found on board such vessel at the time of inspection by the immigration officers at the port of arrival, unless such alien shall have been specifically shown on the list or manifest of aliens required to be delivered to the immigration officers at the port of arrival and the right of such alien to enter the United States shall be passed upon by the said officers: Provided, That no fine shall be imposed if the master shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien had been ordered deported by the said officers and that the vessel had been detained for a period sufficient for the removal of such alien, or that such alien had been allowed to land temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or by reason of the vessel in which he arrived being required to remain in port, or that such alien had been permitted to land temporarily under bond as provided in section 23 of this Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 153).

(b) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of the alien assumed on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and to the extent permitted by rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the medical treatment, or pursuant to such bond or other security as may be required by the Attorney General, for the departure or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 183.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver such seaman on board such vessel before such vessel departs from the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, or who fails to deliver such seaman on board such vessel before such departure to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent of June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from this or any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seaman on board such vessel before such departure to the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman if such vessel is required to remain in port during the period pending such deportation, or that the expense of the passage on which he arrived is not available, and that no part of the expense of the passage to the place to which he is to be deported can be recovered from the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, he may cause such alien seaman to be detained on board such vessel or at such other place as he may designate pending the deportation of such alien seaman, and such vessel, master, agent, consignee, or owner shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, what nations they were respectively shipped or engaged, and respectively those to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing no names of such aforesaid aliens, as the case may be; and it shall be the duty of the master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place to report and deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the list or lists of such aliens employed on such vessel, stating the number of all such aliens, together with the information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel to report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the name of each alien employed on such vessel, and to deliver to such officer, on demand, a description of such alien, together with the information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer at the port of departure a written list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been detected in the act of unlawfully landed from the vessel; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, at the time of departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, and of all aliens who have been detected in the act of unlawfully landing therefrom, stating the cause of such discharge, and the fact of such unlawful landing, and the final destination, so far as known, of each of such aliens so discharged or unlawfully landed. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom such failure occurs. Upon such failure or refusal of the master to comply with the requirements of this section, and upon the departure of such vessel, the collector of customs for the district in which the port of departure is located shall issue a certificate of such failure or refusal, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located until the master has produced such certificate to the collector of customs at the port of departure, who shall then cancel the certificate and grant clearance. No vessel shall be granted clearance during the detention of any alien on board thereof by the immigration officer at the port of arrival or during the pendency of any proceeding before the Secretary of Labor involving the right of any such alien to land, or during the payment of any tax imposed by section 2 of this Act, or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing by the master, immigrant inspector, or other officer, in his discretion grant clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of any such tax, and in the event such tax is imposed, while it remains unpaid, no vessel shall be granted clearance thereafter. Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount not exceeding $500 for each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the payment of such tax or the giving of such bond the vessel may be granted clearance. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively held in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board discharged in the port of arrival; or else containing no names of such aliens. Such list shall be produced and delivered to the immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found on board, concealed, or secreted, or attempts to depart from the United States in violation of the provisions of this section, and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, an accurate description of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension, as may be required by such officer. Every master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing any alien who will not be admitted to the United States shall also deliver to the immigration officer at the time of port of departure, and also the names of all aliens employed as members of the crew of such vessel, and specifying those who were not employed thereon at the time of arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of port departure, and also the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who shall join the vessel at any foreign port or place. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the requirements of this section, or who shall refuse to deliver any list required, or who shall deliver a false or incomplete list, shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a like penalty if not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be cleared while any fine is imposed, or while it remains pending; but shall in any case be permitted to depart upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be required by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or discharge the same upon the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, or upon the remission thereof, upon such terms as he shall deem just. Whenever any fine imposed hereunder shall remain unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains pending, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be required by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or discharge the same upon the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, or upon the remission thereof, upon such terms as he shall deem just.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant vessels independent of time of arrival.

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the medical treatment, or personal to such deportations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164. 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains pending, except that clearance may be granted prior to the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be required by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or discharge the same upon the payment of such fine, or any part thereof, or upon the remission thereof, upon such terms as he shall deem just.

(b) Upon the arrival of an alien seaman who does not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who has been discharged from the vessel, it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to report and deliver such alien seaman to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and to pay a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance while detained, to be determined by the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 203.)

(b) Every master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or his authorized representative, before the departure of such vessel from such port, lists containing the information required by the Attorney General with respect to the crew and passengers on board such vessel. Such lists shall be in such form and contain such information relative to such crew and passengers as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such lists shall be verified by the master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel, and shall be delivered in duplicate, one list to be signed by the master and the other by the first officer of such vessel. Such lists shall be delivered at the time of the departure of such vessel from each port in the United States, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure waives the requirement of such lists, in which case he shall make a written record of such waiver. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner as the Attorney General may prescribe, and shall be delivered in duplicate to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival; or, if there be no such officer at such port, to such officer as the Attorney General may designate. Such lists shall be open to the inspection of any immigration officer at any time during the period such vessel is in port. Any master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting such lists, or who refuses to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question touching the information required to be contained in such lists propounded to him by any immigration officer, shall pay to the United States a penalty of $300 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $90 for each alien concerning whom such violation occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section as amended shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving subsequent to June 5, 1940.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or upon whom no report has been made by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or report after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien, the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper, the collector of customs may grant clearance of a vessel prior to the determination of the Attorney General as to the penalty, or may accept a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section as amended shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving subsequent to June 5, 1940.

(f) Every alien seaman who shall not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or report after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(g) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assigned on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such responsibility of such vessel shall not be released until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place if found to be the duly of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they possess passports and visas, and if so, the number, date, and place of issuance thereof, and the reason why such passports and visas were granted, as far as can be ascertained by reasonable inquiry, and such information as may be required by the Attorney General as to the holding of such passports and visas; or lists containing the names of such aliens employed on such vessel, showing a description of such aliens, together with such information likely to lead to the identification of such aliens as may be required by the Attorney General by regulations prescribed; and every alien arriving at the seaports of the United States from any foreign port or place, and every alien departing from the United States, shall state such facts as may be required by such immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or such information as to such alien, as may be required by the Attorney General, and shall present such documentary evidence as may be required by such immigration officer, at which time and place such alien shall be examined and inspected by such officer or by an assistant: Provided, That the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe such classes of aliens as shall not be required to present passports or visas, or to be examined at the ports of arrival: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section to aliens coming from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, or to aliens previously lawfully admitted to the United States who are returning from a temporary visit to such foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands, or to such other classes of aliens as may be determined by him or by such rules and regulations as he may prescribe: Provided further, That the Attorney General may waive the application of this section to aliens coming from such parts of contiguous territory of the United States as are not ordinarily reached by such vessels: Provided further, That any alien who willfully fails or refuses to comply with the provisions of this section or with any rule or regulation issued thereunder shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act: Provided further, That any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who fails to deliver lists required by this section, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to go and remain aboard any such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the manifests thereof, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by any such immigration officer, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the master of any such vessel the notice required to be delivered by him to each alien before such alien lands from such vessel, or who refuses or fails to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each and every alien concerning whom any failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same in whole or in part, under such terms and conditions as he may deem just and reasonable, and may ascertain and prescribe the fees to be charged for services rendered hereunder, but such fees shall not exceed $2 for each alien for which such service is performed. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration matters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States at the time of the approval hereof, so far as the same may be made applicable.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien aliens on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such alien or aliens, such alien may be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, but such permit shall not operate to prevent the deportation of such alien if the Attorney General subsequently finds that such deportation will be practicable at the time of the application for such permit. The decision of the Attorney General in any case under this section shall be final.

Nothing in this section shall make lawful the unlawful entry of any alien into the United States.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien aliens on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such alien or aliens, such alien may be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States under such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, but such permit shall not operate to prevent the deportation of such alien if the Attorney General subsequently finds that such deportation will be practicable at the time of the application for such permit. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to attend to matters of his personal business, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof having on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel duly inspected by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and certified to be in addition to the crew or complement of such vessel, may, subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, employ such alien seaman on board such vessel during her stay in any port of the United States, but shall not employ such alien seaman on board such vessel after her departure from the United States, except as provided in section 18 of this Act, without the permission of the Secretary of Labor. Such permission shall not be granted to any alien seaman who has been certified by the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival as being afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 of this Act, or who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, unless such alien seaman has been specially examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service and certified by him to be not affected with any such disease or disability and to be a proper person to be permitted to land in the United States. Such alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such place in the United States as the immigration officer in charge may designate until he is specially examined by such medical officer and certified to be not affected with any such disease or disability and to be a proper person to be permitted to land in the United States, or is otherwise lawfully permitted to land or is deported. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner prescribed for the deportation of aliens who become public charges within one year after they land, at the port at which he was originally admitted to the United States, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which he arrived shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and his transportation to such port or place as the Secretary of Labor may direct, or unless the Secretary of Labor shall allow him to land temporarily without prejudice to his deportation when required. Such alien seaman shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the United States, or to such other country as may be designated by him and as may be agreed to by such last-mentioned country, except that no alien seaman may be deported to any country other than the country to which he belongs, unless the cost of such deportation shall be greater than the cost of deportation to the country to which he belongs. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in this Act in the case of an alien who has entered the United States unlawfully, unless the Secretary of Labor shall recommend to the Attorney General that such alien be permitted to land in the United States, except that such recommendation may be made in the case of an alien who has entered the United States unlawfully but who has subsequently married a citizen of the United States during the said seven years and is living with such citizen spouse at the time of the consideration of the case by the Secretary of Labor. SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any aircraft arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and in case of sickness or injury, or for such time as the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of the vessel or aircraft on board which he arrived shall be required to detain him, or for such time as may be necessary to enable the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of the vessel or aircraft to make complete arrangements for his departure and comply with the immigration laws and regulations governing the departure of aliens, any alien seaman (which term when used in this section includes a person employed in any capacity on board a vessel) or any other alien passenger brought into the United States on such vessel or aircraft, unless and until each such alien seaman or other alien passenger has been examined by a United States immigrant inspector and found to be admissible to the United States under this Act, or has been certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the place of arrival as unable to be so examined because of his physical condition, and has been granted a certificate of such examination by the Secretary of Labor or by such immigrant inspector or medical officer. Any such alien seaman (which term when used in this section includes a person employed in any capacity on board a vessel) or other alien passenger who shall land in the United States from any such vessel or aircraft without having been so examined and certified, or who shall land in the United States from any such vessel or aircraft in violation of any rule or regulation made by the Secretary of Labor governing the examination of such aliens, shall be taken into custody and deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he did not know and could not with reasonable diligence have ascertained that the vessel or aircraft upon which he arrived was destined to a port of the United States, or that he was compelled to enter a port of the United States by reason of the failure of the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of the vessel or aircraft to comply with the provisions of this section, or that he was prevented from complying with the provisions of this section by reason of the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or operator of the vessel or aircraft refusing to permit him to comply with the provisions of this section, or that he was destined to the United States at the time of his departure from a foreign port or place or entered the United States solely in order to escape persecution because of religious beliefs: Provided, That any alien who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is not a member of any of the classes enumerated in section 3 of this Act, and that he was not destined to the United States at the time of departure from a foreign port or place, shall not be deported if the Secretary of Labor shall be satisfied that such alien is not likely to become a public charge and that his deportation would result in serious economic loss to persons in the United States who are found by the Secretary of Labor to have been in no way responsible for the violation of this section by such alien: And provided further, That any alien who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was a stowaway shall not be deported under the provisions of this section or section 19 of this Act, but such stowaway may be required to depart from the United States upon the vessel or aircraft which brought him to the United States or any other vessel or aircraft available to the master thereof, and the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and of his removal therefrom may be exacted from the master or owner of such vessel or aircraft or may be recovered from such master or owner in any court of competent jurisdiction: And provided further, That any stowaway who shall be ordered excluded from admission to the United States upon arrival at a port in the United States may, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, be permitted to land temporarily in the United States under bond, in such sum and with such security and conditions as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, to prevent the stowaway from becoming a public charge, pending the departure of the vessel or aircraft from the United States or pending such other action as may be necessary, the deposit prescribed in ¶¶ 10.01–21.01, 21.01–31.01, and 31.01–41.01, has been made.

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or otherwise to such extent and under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal to such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 201.)

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be responsible for the proper maintenance while in the United States of every alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection it shall be the duty of such immigration officer to make as soon as practicable after the arrival of such vessel), including a thorough physical examination by the medical examiner, and shall have granted to such seaman or to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel a permit to land temporarily or permanently, or shall have caused such seaman to be detained on board while taken for further inspection or to a hospital for treatment, or pending the final determination of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival as to whether or not such seaman shall be allowed to land, or shall have caused such seaman to be removed to the custody of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to be detained on board while proceeding to a foreign port or while awaiting transportation to the country to which such seaman belongs or in which he resided prior to coming to the United States, or shall have given such other disposition to such seaman as may be directed by the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion and upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel of the cost of maintenance, parole such seaman into the United States temporarily for the period of his stay in port, or for a period not to exceed one year, under such regulations as he may prescribe, without requiring the deposit of any sum as a bond or other security for the performance by such seaman of the conditions of his parole, but no such seaman shall be permitted to land temporarily or permanently in the United States unless in the opinion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival he is found not to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 2 of this Act, or any other form of contagious disease, and is found not to be otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws, or unless a sufficient sum of money, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien, is deposited to guarantee the payment of the hospital dues and other expenses that may be incurred on account of such alien, or unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrived shall give a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such dues and expenses, in such form and amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board vessel or at quarantine of any alien certified by the immigration officer at the port of arrival to be entitled to enter the United States solely because of the existence of a quarantinable disease or infection aboard such vessel, or to require the detention on board vessel or at quarantine of any alien who has been duly inspected and admitted to the United States and who subsequently leaves and returns to the United States on the same vessel, unless the immigration officer at the port of arrival has reason to believe that such alien belongs to one of the classes excluded from admission to the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be a charge against any appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(d) Food, fuel, and other necessary supplies shall not be furnished to any vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he may have touched at a seaport of such country, except in case of emergency, or with the approval of the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion and upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel of the cost of maintenance, parole such seaman into the United States temporarily for the period of his stay in port, or for a period not to exceed one year, under such regulations as he may prescribe, without requiring the deposit of any sum as a bond or other security for the performance by such seaman of the conditions of his parole, but no such seaman shall be permitted to land temporarily or permanently in the United States unless in the opinion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival he is found not to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 2 of this Act, or any other form of contagious disease, and is found not to be otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws, or unless a sufficient sum of money, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien, is deposited to guarantee the payment of the hospital dues and other expenses that may be incurred on account of such alien, or unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrived shall give a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such dues and expenses, in such form and amount as may be prescribed by the Attorney General. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board vessel or at quarantine of any alien who has been duly inspected and admitted to the United States and who subsequently leaves and returns to the United States on the same vessel, unless the immigration officer at the port of arrival has reason to believe that such alien belongs to one of the classes excluded from admission to the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary illness as may render his departure from the United States impracticable or unreasonable, or because he is a bona fide member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived and is destined to join the vessel in a port other than a port of the United States, or because the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of visiting a specific place for a temporary period, subject to such conditions as he may prescribe, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, or unless specifically certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that the case of such alien seaman has been given special inquiry, examination, and consideration, and that in the opinion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure the said alien seaman is not prohibited from admission into the United States under any of the provisions of this Act, and unless such certification shall be approved by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deport any alien seaman specified in this section when ordered so to do by the immigration officer in charge of the port at which such alien seaman shall have arrived, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any such alien seaman on board the vessel or other vessel in which he shall arrive at any port in the United States until a permit for the landing of such alien seaman shall have been granted by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each and every such alien seaman so ordered to be detained or deported, and may also be arrested and proceeded against in any district court of the United States within the district in which such alien seaman may be found. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, remit or mitigate any penalty or forfeiture incurred under the provisions of this section.

SEC. 15. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival in the United States, shall not allow any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and has granted a permit in writing to such alien seaman to land, or has been informed by the Attorney General that such alien seaman may be allowed to land, or has been informed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that the Attorney General has failed to act upon the case of such alien seaman within forty-eight hours after the completion of the physical examination of such alien seaman by the medical examiners. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such permit to land in any case in which he shall be satisfied that such withdrawal is necessary on account of the conduct of the alien seaman after the granting of such permit, or that such alien seaman has become ill, or for any other reason deemed sufficient by the Attorney General. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deport any alien seaman in respect of whom such withdrawal occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper, shall be subject to the same penalty provided in subdivision (a) of this section for each alien seaman so refused or neglected to be deported.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily as provided in subdivision (a) of this section shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel, at the expense of such vessel, to the country to which such vessel belongs, unless the Commissioner General of Immigration shall find that it is impracticable or inadvisable to require such deportation, in which case he shall issue a certificate to that effect, and such alien seaman may be deported to any country which he may select which will accept him, and which is willing to receive him, at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but not to exceed the cost of a steerage passage to the port of such country nearest to the United States, or to the country in which was located the port from which such alien seaman last departed for the United States, or to the country in which he was born or of which he was a subject, at the option of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which he arrived. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to deport any alien seaman as required by this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman with respect to whom he so refuses or neglects to comply with the provisions of this section, to be recovered by action in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is located from which such alien seaman was ordered to be deported, and may also be arrested and proceeded against in any district court of the United States within the district in which such alien seaman may be found. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $50 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens unspecially to June 2, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to obtain or deport alien seamen, testimony by the immigration officer in the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that the deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of such seaman's relationship to a wife or child who is a resident of the United States, the Attorney General may permit such alien seaman to remain in the United States for such time as he may determine, but not to exceed five years, and may require such security as he may deem necessary to insure that such alien seaman will not become a public charge, and that he will depart from the United States when required to do so by the Attorney General. Such alien seaman shall not be deported to any country in which he will be subject to physical persecution until after the termination of the period of time allowed by the Attorney General. Such alien seaman shall not be required to depart from the United States while the United States is at war. Such alien seaman shall not be eligible to become a citizen of the United States

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for the purpose of medical treatment, or pursuant to and in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to and in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, a complete list of all aliens employed on board such vessel, stating the full name, age, calling, last permanent residence, nationality, final destination, whether in transit through the United States, whether they have been previously refused admission to the United States, whether they have been deported, and if so, when, and whether they have ever been in prison or almshouse or an institution for the insane or supported by charity, and such other information regarding them as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerned in such list, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the necessity of secretly or unlawfully obtaining subsistence, or for the sole purpose of obtaining surgical treatment which is not obtainable in Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, or for the purpose of obtaining a visa from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the service), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be refunded clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or intransit to such vessel to be treated as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate departure, removal, or for medical treatment, or intransit to such vessel to depart for any foreign port or place, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless specially admitted by the Secretary of Labor in his discretion, or his duly authorized representative, under such conditions as he may prescribe, or unless a certificate of identity and nationality has been issued to him by the consular officer at the port or place of departure in the country of which he is a national by a medical examiner designated by the Secretary of Labor, or unless he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by a consular officer. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any place outside the jurisdiction of the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum or the filing of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels arriving after the date of the approval of this Act.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to the proper officer temporarily by the immigration officer at the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of such cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 20. That when entire or any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the locations they respectively held in the alien's country, when and where they were respectively granted or refused passports, and whether they were respectively granted or refused visas by consular officers, and the intended length of stay and future address in the United States of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to the identification and a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension and deportation of any such alien who shall enter the United States in violation of law, and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who are not embodied thereon at the time of the entire list who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those who have been discharged and the cause of their discharge. Such lists shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and if any, who have been discharged or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens entering and departing respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or illness, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the penalty. The term "steerage," as used in the act, shall be construed to include all passengers not entitled to cabin accommodations. Any vessel which shall have been granted clearance may be detained by the collector of customs for the refusal or neglect of the master to deliver the lists required by this section, and for the payment of the penalty accruing on account of any such refusal or neglect, and may be compelled to discharge her cargo or a sufficient portion thereof to secure the payment of such penalty. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and then unless notice of inability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act having been served, the deposit required in rule 23 has been made.

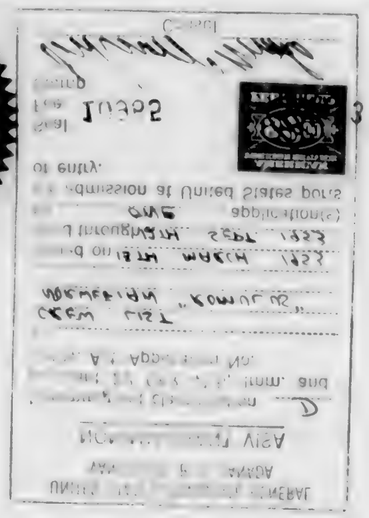
EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

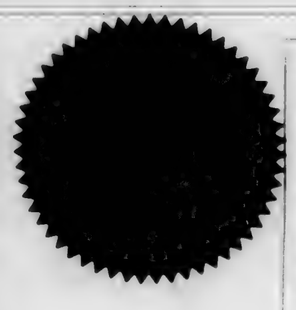
SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of the necessities of the vessel, or for such other reasons as the Secretary of Labor from any place outside thereof may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Fines that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was permitted by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be borne jointly and severally by the master and the owner of such vessel, and may be recovered by suit or proceeding against them or either of them in any court of competent jurisdiction in the district in which the port of arrival is located.



(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.



I, John Henderson, master of the Kronprinz, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from any port or place taking per present voyage. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily because of illness, injury, or emergency, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 1281.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such vessel (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain on board such vessel any seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or to obtain the permission of the immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all foreign arrivals subsequent to June 2, 1941.

(b) Upon such sum as alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States being paid to the collector of customs, or upon the production of such vessel to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, such sum shall be remitted, unless the failure to obtain or deport alien seaman was with the connivance of the master, agent, or consignee of the vessel, in which case such sum or any part thereof may be recovered from any person liable thereto, or from the vessel, by the United States of America in an action brought for the purpose.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to detain such alien seaman for more than four months after the date of his arrival. Such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment thereof has been guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

It shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at arrival, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to deliver to such immigrant inspector on the arrival of any such vessel at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place all aliens found on board, whether they have been admitted or not, and the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will remain or be employed thereon as the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel may desire, if any, who have been held on board for the return to the country whence they came, and also the names of those, if any, who have been detained, and the cause for the detention. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel failing to deliver lists as herein required, or to report the illegal landing of any alien, or who shall refuse to allow the inspection of the vessel, or any part thereof, or any of the cargo, or the stores or provisions thereof, by any immigrant inspector, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than one-half of such amount. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than one-half of such amount. The Attorney General may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section, and may employ such persons and make such expenditures as may be necessary to carry out its provisions. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector stationed at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form I–418) shall not be required to be noted on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. "Master" as used herein shall be deemed to include any person who has charge of any vessel, and "seaman" as used herein shall be deemed to include every person employed on board any vessel in the service thereof.

Section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended, provides that no alien seaman shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel at any port unless specially exempted by the Secretary of Labor in case of sickness or emergency, or for the purpose of rendering assistance to the vessel, or for such other cause as he may deem sufficient, but such seaman may be transferred from one vessel to another with the consent of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, under such conditions as he may prescribe, and may be detained on board or in the immediate vicinity of the vessel by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser thereof, or by any person employed by them for that purpose, pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor in the case of any alien seaman who may be certified to the Secretary of Labor by the immigrant inspector as a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived who is suffering from a mental or physical defect, disease, or infirmity which will probably require treatment or hospital care, or who is a member of a class of persons coming within the provisions of the immigration laws, and pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor in the case of any alien seaman who may be certified by the immigrant inspector as a deserter, shall be taken from the vessel by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser thereof, or by any person employed by them for that purpose, and such alien seaman shall be detained at a station designated by the Secretary of Labor, pending the decision in his case, and shall not be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital care, or under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous land territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Canal Zone, or any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, shall, at the time of entry of such vessel, deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival a complete list of the crew of such vessel, showing the full name, nationality, last permanent residence, birth date and place, port of entry into the United States, final destination, and whether in possession of an immigration visa, of each alien member of the crew employed on such vessel, and the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall thereupon examine, or cause to be examined, such alien members of the crew as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and no such alien member of the crew shall be permitted to land in the United States from such vessel unless and until he has been found admissible under the immigration laws and regulations and a certificate to that effect has been issued by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival: Provided, That the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases in which it appears to him that an emergency exists, or that the delay or expense incident to the detention of such alien seaman at the port of arrival would be unreasonable, issue a permit authorizing the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived to grant him a conditional landing privilege, subject to such rules, regulations, and orders, and upon the giving of such bond or undertaking, as the Attorney General may prescribe, for the immediate departure and subsequent deportation of such alien seaman whenever required to do so. Such alien seaman may be required to deposit with the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover the expense of his maintenance while detained at such port, and to defray the cost of his deportation, or the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel may be required to furnish a bond in such sum, not exceeding $300 for each seaman, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel, or his deportation at the expense of the delinquent master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser, as the case may be, within such time as may be specified by the Secretary of Labor. Any seaman who shall have been granted a conditional landing privilege as provided herein, and who shall fail to depart with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within the time specified by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse to detain any alien seaman on board his vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do or shall fail to deliver any such seaman to the custody of the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall pay a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel any such bond. Such fine may be remitted or refunded in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. This section, as amended, shall apply to all territories entirely independent of June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be granted clearance limit such expense and need bond or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 30. EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien employees on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively born as far as the aforesaid officer can ascertain the same, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor; and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel, before any such alien shall depart from the port of arrival, to deliver to each alien employee a certificate, signed in duplicate by the master and the said immigration officer, in which shall be stated the name of such alien employee, the date of his admission into the United States, and such other information likely to lead to his identification as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien employee illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to deliver to any such immigration officer, at the time of the arrival of the vessel at any port of the United States, a list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who were employed thereon at some time during the progress of the voyage, the additional information required as to those on the list at the time of arrival, and the reasons for the discharge of such employees from the vessel; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing any alien employee to the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of inspection a list containing the name of each such alien employee, the amount of money in his possession, the place of his last permanent residence, the name and address of the person in the United States to whom he is going, whether he has a ticket, whether his passage is paid by himself or by others, whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long he has been absent from the United States, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether he is coming to join relatives, and if so what relatives, whether he is married or single, his calling or occupation, whether he is able to read or write, his age, sex, nationality, race, and last permanent residence. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required of him, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truly any question relative to any alien employee or to the cause of the absence of any such employee from the vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain any such alien employee on board such vessel when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or neglect to report any such alien employee who shall have deserted such vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax provided for by section 2 of this Act for any such alien employee who shall have been landed from such vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any other duty required of him by the Secretary of Labor in the execution of the provisions of this Act, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 49. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Panama Canal Zone, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or adjacent islands belonging to the United States, shall be required to pay a head tax of $8 for each alien, including alien members of the crew, not in possession of a valid immigration visa and not coming within the classes exempted by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 203).

(b) Any vessel which shall depart from any port or place in the United States to any port or place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Panama Canal Zone, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or adjacent islands belonging to the United States, without having first obtained a certificate from the Secretary of Labor showing the payment of the head tax required by this section, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien for whom such head tax should have been paid, which penalty may be sued for and recovered by the United States or by any person who shall first bring such action, including informers. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the head tax has been paid or a sufficient portion of the penalty deposited to cover the head tax of any alien employed thereon as a member of the crew, or any alien who has been granted shore leave, or any alien who has been granted transit through the United States in accordance with such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, unless the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have obtained a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that sufficient funds have been deposited to pay the head tax of any such alien who may not depart with the vessel, or unless a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs, shall have been given. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or bond when it shall appear that the head tax of any such alien has been paid or that such alien has been granted a visa, or has died, or has departed from the United States, or for other sufficient reason.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien assumed on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue or unusual hardship on account of the relationship of the alien to a person living in the United States, he may, in his discretion, suspend deportation of such alien for such period or periods of time as he may deem necessary, and such alien shall not be required to pay any head tax which may accrue during the period of such suspension. Upon the cessation of the cause for suspension the Attorney General shall cause the deportation of such alien to be effected in accordance with the provisions of this section. Any alien who shall depart from the United States during the period of suspension shall be considered to have been deported in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155).

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or with some other vessel of the same owner within the period for which he was granted shore leave, or who shall depart from the United States on a vessel not owned by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived, without having been granted transit through the United States, or who shall have been granted transit through the United States but shall not depart within the time prescribed therefor, shall be deemed to be a person who has entered the United States, but who at the time of entry was not a bona fide immigrant, and shall be subject to deportation as provided in section 19 of this Act.

(e) Any alien seaman who shall land temporarily in Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Panama Canal Zone, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or adjacent islands belonging to the United States, and who shall not depart therefrom with the vessel on which he arrived, or who shall depart from the United States on any vessel without having been granted transit through the United States, shall be deemed to be a person who has entered the United States, but who at the time of entry was not a bona fide immigrant, and shall be subject to deportation as provided in section 19 of this Act.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment of such alien on board the vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or to any such alien on board such vessel after such inspection or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fund, or while the fund remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fund, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every such fund or sum deposited by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel as a penalty, shall be paid over by the master of such vessel to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, and by him deposited in a fund to be known as the "Seamen's Fund," and shall be available for the payment of such claims for expenses in connection with the maintenance, medical treatment, and burial of such seamen as may be certified by the immigration officer at the port of arrival as entitled thereto, and for the payment of such claims for refunds as may be certified by the Secretary of Labor as entitled thereto. Any such claim not presented within one year after the date of the departure of the vessel on which the alien seaman was employed shall not be paid.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall not be limited to the amount specified in the preceding clause but may exceed such amount as in his judgment may be necessary.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry of alien passengers brought to the United States from a foreign port or place a complete list or manifest of all such passengers, and of the crew employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the specific cause for so doing and the ship discharged in the port of entry; or alien members of the crew of such vessel who were not employed as such at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of entry, and a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases of aliens secreted on board such vessel before departure, and the name, nationality, and last known place of residence of each such alien so secreted. It shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, the name of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, a list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left the vessel before the departure of the vessel at the port of destination, and also the names of those, if any, who were paid off and discharged, and the cause for so doing, if any, how paid, where employed or landed: and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists required, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a duly inspector at the port of entry at the time of the departure of such vessel from such port: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax: and, in the event such tax is imposed, while it remains unpaid: And provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such penal sum as may be required by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof, or remit the same upon the payment of such sum as he may deem reasonable, after deducting the actual damages and costs accruing to the United States by reason of the violation of the provisions of this section. (43 Stat. 161; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or adjacent islands shall, before any alien has been allowed to land in the United States, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry a manifest and duplicate thereof, in the form prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, containing such information as may be required by him for the identification of each alien, and for the enforcement of the immigration laws with respect to each alien. Such manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of entry by the master of the vessel or by the purser, surgeon, or chief officer thereof, after diligent inquiry as to the persons included therein. The immigration officer may require the master to appear before him and answer such additional questions touching the information required to be shown in the manifest concerning each alien included therein as may be deemed necessary. The master shall deliver with the manifest a certificate or record of the bill of health issued to the vessel by the consular officer of the United States at the port of departure, or, if there was no consular officer at such port, by the consular officer of the United States nearest such port. The master shall also deliver with the manifest a list of the names of all persons on board the vessel, including the crew, who are not included in the manifest, stating the reasons why they are not included therein.

(b) Every alien who arrives at a port in the United States by water, whether destined to the United States or not, shall be subject to such detention and examination by the immigration officers as may be necessary for the enforcement of the immigration laws, and no such alien shall be allowed to land in the United States except for such length of time and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and under such bond as may be required to insure the maintenance of the immigration laws with respect to such alien and his departure from the United States when required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor, or under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, for the admission of any class of aliens lawfully entitled to enter the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to the master or owner of such vessel, or as a passenger, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after requirement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or adjacent islands shall pay a tax of $8 to the collector of customs, which shall be in addition to all passage moneys and charges. SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration law shall be employed on board any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry shall have issued to the master thereof a certificate stating that such alien seaman has been found upon examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be not affected with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects which would be the cause of debarring such alien seaman from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, and that such alien seaman has been vaccinated against smallpox not more than one year prior to the date of such certificate, unless such vaccination shall have proved unsuccessful upon such examination. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the right of such alien seaman to be employed on board such vessel during her stay in port, but shall not be conclusive upon the immigration officers at any subsequent port or place. Any master who employs any alien seaman in violation of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman so employed, and such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are destined to the port of arrival; or state contrary to such information. Such lists shall be prepared and delivered by the master, as soon as discovered, if cause in which the vice consul of the United States in the district in which the port of departure is located was not informed of the sailing of such vessel at least 24 hours before the departure of the vessel from such port, and by the owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, at the time of the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place touched at, a correct list of all aliens employed thereon as the time of the vessel's departure, and who were not included in the lists previously furnished, giving a description of such aliens, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; but only vessels engaged in the transportation of passengers between ports of the United States and foreign ports shall be required to deliver lists containing the names of alien members of the crew employed thereon as the time of the vessel's departure from any port or place in the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses or neglects to deliver lists containing the names of all alien employees who were on board the vessel at the time of its departure, and also the names of those, if any, who were known or believed to be destined to the United States, or who refuses or neglects to deliver lists containing the names of alien members of the crew who were discharged or left behind in any foreign port or place, if any, who were destined to the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or to a term of not more than one year, or both, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of injury to such vessel necessitating its repair, or for such other reasonable cause as the Attorney General may prescribe for the eliminate deportation, or to any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and certified that such seaman is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders for the exclusion of which by this Act the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel is responsible, and that such seaman is not otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws. The Attorney General may prescribe for the detention on board or elsewhere, pending examination, treatment, or observation, of aliens seamen arriving at ports of the United States, and for the safeguarding of their baggage. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse to comply with the provisions of this section, or with any such regulations made thereunder, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem reasonable and proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which have accrued or may accrue under the provisions of section 2 of the Act of June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel on which he may arrive at any port therein, in violation of the provisions of section 13 of this Act, shall be taken into custody upon the vessel or at any time thereafter within five years after such landing, upon the warrant of the Attorney General, and shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Deportation under this subsection shall be to the country whose seaman's certificate such alien bears, unless such alien shall, at his option, within four months after such landing or after the date of his release if he shall have been imprisoned for such period after such landing, elect to be deported to some other country which will accept him, and which is designated by him and is approved by the Attorney General. Deportation under this subsection shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. If deportation cannot be effected within five years after such landing, the Attorney General may cancel the warrant of deportation, and in his discretion may permit such alien to remain in the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of an alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance thus such expense has been paid to its satisfaction of the Attorney General.

Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest, or to furnish such additional information relative thereto, when required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, shall be punished by a penalty of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. The Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, mitigate such penalty or remit the same upon such terms as he shall deem just and reasonable. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the infliction of a penalty or the collection thereof, nor shall any such penalty be remitted or refunded except on the certificate of the Commissioner General of Immigration that the full amount of such penalty has been deposited with the collector of customs, or satisfactory security given for the payment thereof, to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration or a court of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 29. No alien seaman employed on board any vessel plying between the continental territory of the United States and the Territory of Alaska, except temporarily, or between any port in the United States and any port in the Canal Zone, shall be discharged in the port of arrival; or if such seaman be a member of the crew of a vessel entering at one port in the United States and departing from another port therein, without the consent of the Commissioner General of Immigration, or his duly authorized agent, and any such seaman who shall refuse to proceed on any such vessel when ordered to do so by the master thereof shall be punished by a penalty of $50, to be deducted from the wages due him, or otherwise recovered, and in addition thereto shall be imprisoned not more than one month. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily or between any port in the United States and any port in the Canal Zone, subject to such regulations as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe for the administration and enforcement of this section and of the immigration laws as they may be applicable to the conditions of such landing: Provided, That any such seaman who has been lawfully admitted into the United States under the provisions of this section and who has remained in the United States for the period specified in section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 1151–1153, 1181–1183), and who shall depart from the United States to any foreign contiguous territory shall be deemed to have been deported in pursuance of law, and shall thereafter be inadmissible to the United States and may be arrested and deported in the same manner as provided for aliens who have entered the United States in violation of the immigration laws: Provided further, That any such seaman who has been lawfully admitted into the United States under the provisions of this section and who has remained in the United States for a period in excess of the period allowed by the terms of his admission or any extension thereof granted in accordance with such regulations as the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe, and who shall depart to any foreign contiguous territory shall be deemed to have been deported in pursuance of law, irrespective of the validity of his admission to the United States: Provided further, That any such seaman who shall have been granted parole into the United States for the period or periods authorized by the Secretary of Labor, and who shall depart to any foreign contiguous territory within such period or periods, shall not be regarded as having been deported: Provided further, That any such seaman who shall have been granted parole into the United States for a period or periods totaling not more than four months, and who shall depart to any foreign contiguous territory within such period or periods, shall not be regarded as having been deported: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may waive the application of the provisions of this section relating to the deportation of aliens who have been granted parole into the United States for such additional period or periods as he may deem necessary for the sole purpose of taking passage for any foreign port or place from a port of the United States, upon such terms and conditions as he may prescribe: Provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe rules and regulations governing the admission and return to the United States of seamen employed on any vessel touching at ports of the United States and foreign ports, or ports in the Canal Zone, and may waive the application of any provisions of this section with respect to any such seaman employed on any such vessel touching at ports of the United States and foreign ports, or ports in the Canal Zone, when in his judgment the proper administration of this section will not be prejudiced thereby: And provided further, That the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may prescribe rules and regulations governing the admission and return to the United States of alien members of the crews of vessels touching at ports of the United States and foreign contiguous territory, and may waive the application of any provisions of this section with respect to any such alien seaman when in his judgment the proper administration of this section will not be prejudiced thereby.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall refuse to permit any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, (after examination), to go and remain on board such vessel while same is anchored in the stream or while it remains at the dock, or who shall refuse to permit such immigration officer to come on board such vessel at any time before the departure thereof for the purpose of inspecting the crew thereof, or who shall refuse to allow such immigration officer to examine the manifest of such vessel, or who shall refuse to allow such immigration officer to make such entries in the manifest as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such amount as a bond sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all persons arriving in the United States on and after June 2, 1940.

(d) Every fine or alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any vessel which shall be required by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seaman pursuant to the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or all payment adequately provided for the satisfaction of the Attorney General.
